A classic heirloom quality piece for many magical dining moments. Solid reclaimed white oak throughout, with a farmhouse table base.
H: 30" x W: 36" x D: 96"

It's the table where you can host your friends, clear the plates and dance on top. This table will look brand new the next morning even if you don't.
H: 30" x W: 60" x D: 60"

This is the table where we gather to appreciate our daily life, acknowledge our wins and sometimes lick our wounds.
H: 30" x W: 60" x D: 60"

We're grateful for beautiful century old barn wood. So we compliment it by creating this table with modern lines and a wishbone metal base.
H: 30" x W: 32" x D: 96"

Breakout the scrap books. This living room table is begging for you to sit on the floor with fancy stickers to put on your siblings back when they're not looking.
H: 16" x W: 36" x D: 36"

We obsessed over every detail to make the most elegant chair also the most comfortable. At the end of the day, there was only one name we could call it: The Chair.
H: 29" x W: 31" x D: 30"

200 years ago before lumber met the industrial revolution, a man shaped a tree in his nearby woods with the singular ax, sharpened daily - for several hours over many days. Today we call it hand hewn.
H: 18" x W: 10" x D: 10"

Our signature home goods are all curated with so much thought in mind. Handcrafted with our century+ oak and finely polished off with a plant based sealer.

COMPANY INFORMATION

Ross Alan Reclaimed Lumber is more than a brand; it embodies sustainability, craftsmanship, and timeless design. Our journey began with the quest for the perfect changing table for our newborn, leading us to our passion for creating enduring furniture that embraces sustainability principles.

Each piece we produce is a testament to the transformation of reclaimed wood into luxurious furniture. Carefully crafted in our Southern California wood shop, each item is treated as a unique creation, carrying its own story. From the Asher Alan dresser to our latest designs, every piece has its own narrative.

Our commitment to using reclaimed wood sets us apart. This choice not only conserves the environment but also gives our furniture a distinctive aesthetic. The unique charm of reclaimed wood, originally harvested and milled over a century ago, cannot be matched by new lumber.

We remain steadfast in our commitment to sustainable luxury. With urbanization driving the demand for high-end furniture and consumers increasingly seeking eco-friendly options, Ross Alan is ideally positioned to meet this demand. Our offerings aren't just pieces of furniture; they're stories of exceptional craftsmanship and timeless elegance.

We invite you to join us in our journey towards sustainable luxury as we showcase our creations at the 'Centers of High Point' market. Experience the Ross Alan difference - where we create memories that last, just like our furniture.
