Counterpart Studios

Collaboration is fundamental to forward progress. It's how communities prosper and hit songs are written. Good things come when ripe minds merge.

At Counterpart Studios, collaboration is central to our mission. We partner with visionary artists to translate their ideas to new canvases for the home.

We are developers, creators, curators, and enablers. Our collections of wallpaper, fabric, and home decor deliver bold potential and decadent ideas for the designer and stunning surroundings for the homeowner.

Founded by Andrée Chalaron and Stacy Bain in Austin, TX

Eloi is the brainchild of Paige Russell, an absolute color master-chef. She delivers the most savory concoctions, flavored with fantastic flair and unbridled imagination.

Her work is unbound by form, brilliant technicolor masterpieces in construction paper. Her work works everywhere. Art and craft, elevated from arts and crafts. Collaborating with Paige is like hearing Bohemian Rhapsody for the first time - it's eclectic, packed with ideas, and leaves you humming. A natural and perhaps predestined Counterpartner.

If brighter corners, edgy ebullience and audacious angles suit you, embrace the Eloi.

Counterpart Studios

Iconic isn't a word we use lightly. It's a word reserved for folks like Coco, Dolly, Prince and both Sinatras. And probably that scene from Royal Tenenbaums when Richie loses his locks. But iconic is the closest word we could conjure to describe the visionary work of Fort Lonesome. From our first exposure, we were floored by the timeless aesthetic hand built exactly for this age.

As our studio developed, we looked to their art to propel our aspirations to transform interiors - to carefully borrow and build from one legacy to create a new legacy for the home. As Fort Lonesome is a marriage of artist and machine, our partnership is a marriage of individuality and accessibility, of art and application. Our hope is to make your personal spaces as legendary as the adorned jacket that set this collaboration in motion.
