A considered mix of history and restraint

The Shop offers a thoughtfully curated collection of European antiques, architectural elements, fine art and distinctive vintage furnishings. Each piece is selected for its history, character and ability to bring depth and individuality to collected interiors.

Sourced throughout France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Portugal and the United States, the collection balances aged surfaces and classical forms with a quieter, contemporary sensibility.

QUIET LUXURY.
LAYERED HISTORY.
FOUND BEAUTY.

A personal point of view

Led by founder Lisa McLean, The Shop is built around personal sourcing, visual instinct and a preference for objects that retain evidence of age. The collection favors pieces with presence rather than perfection - dry paint, worn gilding, old repairs and surfaces that cannot be convincingly reproduced.

The guiding idea: pieces that can anchor a room - objects with enough history to feel singular, but enough restraint to live comfortably in a contemporary interior.
